

UNATTENDED YOUTH

We often speak about displacement in youth nowadays, but who are these invisible children? An unattended youth is usually one that does not stand out for any reason, and is in need of support and care. This individual would prefer to be under radar, so less to none people will realize the situation they are going through. These kids find themselves facing hardships in life for several different situations such as a fight with their parents, runaway from home, sudden death of their care provider, and so many more reasons.

Epic Empowerment mission is to create a safe environment for youth and young adults facing personal, social, and economic hardships, and to inspire them to take control of their future through education and faith-based mentorship.

Through this mission, we aim to build a culture of leadership through supportive mentorship that teaches young adults to foster personal growth and success and reject negative aspects of modern society.

Through the Epic DreamCenter, Safekids program, and Next Generation Leadership programs, we provide our youth with resources to educate and ensure success in their lives. We also have extracurricular activities where these young adults can explore, harness and discover their untapped skills and passions.

Your support has helped save many of these next generation of leaders' futures. With these donations, we are able to provide our youth in need with respite care, school supplies, and find the resources to equip our campus for their needs. Epic Empowerment also works with family reconciliation, so we truly care about the wellbeing of these young leaders.
